Interior Design

ABOUT ME

In the past years, I have involved myself in interior design knowledge that eventually became my passion. For me, interior design is one of the most important things for someone in their real life. It's not only about the aesthetic or layouting some stuff in one room, but it is also about humanizing space. I love to learn and begin some new things that I never tried before and join with excellent people that push me to become more expert in that profession. Hence, my goal is to explore more and further experience in interior design.
